Term 4

Dear Parents & Caregivers, Tena koutou katoa

I can't believe we've reached the end of another year. Where has the time gone?! We've had a really successful year and that's due to the wonderful students, families and staff that we have at Trentham School. We've achieved a great deal over the year and students have made progress in many aspects of school life. As they move through the year levels at our school, they are closer to becoming the Trentham Kid that we desire.

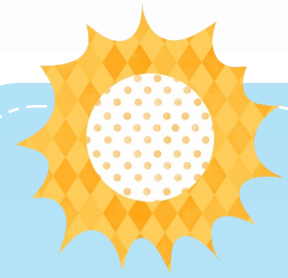

Over next year we intend to review our school vision, values and Trentham Kid graduate profile to ensure it is up to date and what we believe is important for the students of Trentham School. We will be consulting with our community so please watch out for surveys or meetings and do your best to give feedback.

Over the break there will be building work going on here at school. You may have noticed already that Golder and Brentwood Blocks are being stripped ready for painting. This has been happening in the weekends and will continue after school finishes. We are also starting work on upgrading our pool roof. There are constant leaks and the rafters are starting to rot in areas. The roof will be replaced which will make this facility far more pleasurable to be in.

End of year reports will be coming home on Friday. Students have again completed a self-review of the year. This piece of writing has been written especially for you by your child. We hope you enjoy reading what your child has written about their year. As always we welcome any feedback on our reporting process. Please feel free to email me or give me a ring.

This year we've again partnered with Eeny Meeny to provide 'Back to School' stationery packs for each class for next year. Information will come home with your child's school

HELP—KAPA HAKA TUTOR!

We are looking for an experienced Kapa Haka tutor to work alongside our students and staff.

Please contact Jillian Adams or Suzanne Su'a if you know of anybody that may be able to help us out. Thanks in advance.

CHILDREN TURNING 5

If you have a child turning 5 in 2017, please contact the school office to make an enrolment if you haven't already done so. It is really useful for us to know how many children will be starting school in the next 2 years.

NEW ABSENTEE LINE

In the office we are very excited to announce our new absentee line is up and running. Call as per normal on 04 528 6485, press 2, then leave your child's name, room number, reason for absence and length of time they will be away.

report. Order the stationery through the website www.schoolpacks.co.nz and have your child's stationery delivered to your home. Order with a friend and halve the delivery costs!

Next Tuesday we're holding our Meet & Greet for our students at 1.30pm for half an hour. All students will have the opportunity to spend time with their 2017 teacher and classmates. We hope this will help with transition through to next year. Students will know where to go and be familiar with their new class and teacher. Above are our two syndicates for next year and the teachers and room numbers. Rooms within each syndicate will be organised into Hubs of 2 or 3 classes. These rooms will work collaboratively through the year, particularly in Maths from Term 2. Sarah Moore will be joining our staff next year. She is a beginning teacher who completed the Master of Teaching programme this year. We look forward to having Sarah on our staff.

We have two teachers leaving us at the end of this year to take maternity leave. We wish Sam Cripps and Sarah Searle all the best for the remainder of their pregnancies and the birth of their babies. Enjoy motherhood and make the most of being home and watching them grow. We look forward to lots of visits and cuddles!

As this is the final newsletter for the year I'd like to thank my staff for their hard work throughout this year. Working in a school environment is extremely busy and can be very stressful at times. Along with this though are all the wonderful times we have with our students when we watch them achieve success in many areas. This success is due to the commitment of our staff. I encourage them all to take some time off and have a break from work and spend quality time with their family and friends.

I'd also like to thank all our parents and caregivers for all their support and help throughout this year. Your ongoing commitment to your children and our school means we are all working together. On behalf of the staff and Board of Trustees at Trentham School I wish you all a wonderful Christmas and a Happy New Year. Enjoy the time with your children and stay safe if you are travelling. We look forward to seeing you back at school in early February.

EOTC Week (Education Outside the Classroom)

In spite of the earthquake, rain and flooding, the Year 4 -6 students managed to complete all the activities planned for EOTC Week.

The food technology was lots of fun with a mystery box like on Master Chef and making pikelets and smoothies.

The tramp to Tunnel Gully was well rewarded with making shelters in the trees and the trip to Pauatahanui and Battle Hill brought some Wellington history alive.

Thanks so much to all the supervisors who attended the trips and made it possible for our students to enjoy experiences beyond the classroom.

VALUE OF THE TERM

Responsibility / Kawenga

As the first teacher of your child you can identify examples of responsibility you like to see in your home and actively encourage it.

At school we identified practical examples that we always like to see around the school including:

- Wearing a sunhat in term 1 and 4
- Keeping our desks tidy and organised
- Tidying after using equipment or games
- Hanging up our bags on a hook in the corridor
- Being on time for school
- Keeping our school grounds rubbish free
- Bringing your clothing in from the playground
- Returning library books on time.

Home suggestion: Encourage your child to take some sort of responsibility at home e.g. feed the cat, set the table, put washing away

ATHLETICS REGIONALS

Earthquake and other Trauma

Supporting children after the Christchurch earthquake

The Christchurch earthquake has been frightening for everyone involved, especially for children who may not understand what has happened. Here are some tips for supporting children after the earthquake.

At times like this when you are feeling stressed, scared or tired it can be hard to know what to say to your children or to know what to do.

It is normal for children who have been through a traumatic event like a major earthquake to feel insecure and emotional.

Try to understand and be tolerant of any changes in their behaviour. Children might have problems with sleeping and nightmares and be too scared to sleep alone. They might also be more clingy and cry, or be more frustrated and impatient than usual.

Let your children know you will all look after each other. Spend time together with lots of hugs and cuddles. If your children want to use a dummy or carry a cuddly blanket – let them, it will help them feel reassured and more secure. Let them know everyone feels scared and that is ok.

Children want to try and make sense of what is happening and when they don't know they use their imagination to fill the gaps which can make things more frightening for them. Try and explain what has happened and what aftershocks are. You might also need to explain why we need to be careful with hygiene.

Talking and listening is important. Try to calmly explain what has happened – over and over if needed – and listen to how everyone is feeling.

You are the most important part of your child's life and how they respond to the earthquake will depend on how you react to it. Try to act calm even when you are not feeling that way – it will reassure your children.

Keeping to familiar routines will also help your children feel more secure. So if the schools are open let your children go back so they can have as normal a routine as possible.

SKIP tips for helping whānau

Families affected by the Christchurch earthquake will need lots of support. SKIP has pulled together these ideas to help remind ourselves how we can support whānau using the Six Things Children Need framework.

1 Love and warmth

- Looking after each other and spending time together
- Getting close with lots of physical connecting, hugs and cuddles for reassurance
- Encouraging and allowing the use of security objects if necessary e.g. dummies, a cuddly, favourite toys
- Tolerating changes in behaviour that may be ongoing:
  - developmental regression
  - fears and being more clingy
  - aggression or impatience
  - avoidance or unresponsiveness
  - sleep disturbances.

2 Talking and Listening

- Calmly explaining about the event – over and over if needed
- Listening to everyone's feelings
- Allowing 'replaying' of the event for as long as it takes
- Taking concerns seriously and respectfully
- Helping your children to use play as a way to express feelings, e.g. puppets, drawing, toys
- Singing and storytelling for calming fears.

3 Guidance and Understanding

- Explaining what aftershocks are and the possibility of them carrying on
- Acknowledging that everyone feels scared and it's understandable
- Helping identify and name feelings without interruption or judgement
- Explaining why we need to be extra careful with areas like hygiene
- Acknowledging that emotions will be running high.

4 Limits and Boundaries

- Keeping to familiar routines where possible
- Keeping rules in place – safety for self and others
- Saying what is now not safe or sensible
- Explaining to everyone why we have to do things differently.

5 Consistency and Consequences

- Parenting needs to carry on – so where might we get some help for us? For the kids?
- Keeping things predictable – it's especially important for children to know what's going to happen.
- Thinking about ways that might ease us back into 'the everyday'.

6 Safe and Secure World

- Having a plan for emergencies – "We'll be alright."
- Telling everyone "Things will be okay in time – although they might be different"
- Looking out for everyone else – things will be shared
- Writing things down – feelings, stuff to remember to do, what's been happening, any positives
- Trying to act calm even when we might not be feeling it – it will reassure the kids
- Modelling the behaviour we'd like to see around us
- Introducing some physical activity for temporary distraction and stress release.

Everyone's Adventure wants to make outdoor adventures free for as many Wellington families as possible this summer. You can help them reach the target buy booking a fun kayak or bike experience for your family (child size available!), or buying vouchers for family and friends for Christmas.

Here's how it works:

1. Make a booking at The Boatshed - Days Bay, The Bike Shed - Pencarrow, or Cycle Rimutaka, or buy a voucher for someone else to enjoy an adventure. Every dollar spent there counts - including drinks, ice creams and snacks.

2. The owners have calculated how much it'll cost to safely operate those businesses over summer, and pay staff - it's $300k.

3. Once the business' $300k summer costs are reached through your purchases, gear hire is FREE for everyone, for the rest of summer - til Easter weekend 2017.

If Wellington families get behind Everyone's Adventure now, adventures will be free by the end of the summer holidays!
